Order Staying Case and Denying All Pending Motions

[ECF Nos. 10, 22]

11 The Bank of New York Mellon filed this action to challenge a homeowners association's 12 (HOA's) non-judicial foreclosure sale of a home on which the bank held a first deed of trust, 13 after the Nevada Supreme Court held in SFR Investments Pool 1, LLC v. U.S. Bank that an 14 HOA's proper foreclosure under Nevada's statutory scheme "will extinguish a first deed of 15 trust."¹ A federal-state split in the interpretation and effect of the statute has arisen, and the 16 purchaser has moved to dismiss the bank's claims, arguing that the state approach controls.² But 17 because an impending answer to a question certified to the Nevada Supreme Court may soon
18 resolve this split, I sua sponte stay this case pending that answer and deny all pending motions.

19 Background

20 In the decade since Las Vegas's real estate crash, lenders and investors have battled over 21 the legal effect of an HOA's nonjudicial foreclosure of a superpriority lien on a lender's first trust
22 deed. After the Nevada Supreme Court held in SFR that a properly conducted foreclosure sale 23 extinguishes a first-trust-deed interest, the banks' emphasis shifted to their constitutional 24 challenge—they contend that the statute on its face violated their due process rights before it was 25 amended in 2015 because it did not require HOAs to give notice to first-trust-deed holders. The 28 ² ECF No. 10.

1 Ninth Circuit panel in Bourne Valley Court Trust v. Wells Fargo Bank agreed.³ The lynchpin of 2 that holding is the panel’s interpretation of Chapter 116’s notice requirements: it found that the 3 statute’s scheme was an opt-in one that required notice of the foreclosure “only if the lender had 4 affirmatively requested notice,” expressly rejecting the notion that NRS Chapter 116
5 incorporated the notice rules from NRS 107.090 so foreclosing HOAs “were required to provide 6 notice to mortgage lenders even absent a request.”⁴

7 The Nevada Supreme Court expressly “declined to follow” Bourne Valley in Saticoy Bay
8 v. Wells Fargo and held that “the Due Process Clauses of the United States and Nevada
9 Constitutions are not implicated in an HOA’s nonjudicial foreclosure of a superpriority lien.”⁵ 10 But the Saticoy Bay decision turned on the absence of state action, so the court did “not 11 determine whether NRS 116.3116 et seq. incorporates the notice requirements set forth in NRS
12 107.090.”⁶

13 The Bourne Valley purchaser petitioned for a writ of certiorari in the United States
14 Supreme Court to resolve the federal-state split, but cert was denied.⁷ So, this court is now 15 bound to follow Bourne Valley unless and until the Nevada Supreme Court indicates that the 16 panel’s interpretation of NRS 116.3116 was incorrect.⁸

17 That indication may be on its way. In accepting a certified question from Judge Boulware
18 from this district, the Nevada Supreme Court has agreed to address the issue it shelved in Saticoy
19 Bay:

21 ³ Bourne Valley Ct. Trust v. Wells Fargo Bank, __ F.3d __, 2016 WL 4254983, at *5 (9th Cir.

28 Owen v. United States, 713 F.2d 1461, 1464 (9th Cir. 1983)).

Whether NRS § 116.31168(1)'s incorporation of NRS § 107.090 required a homeowner's association to provide notices of default and/or sale to persons or entities holding a subordinate interest even when such persons or entities did not request notice, prior to the amendments that took effect on October 1, 2015?⁹

Briefing is underway and is scheduled to be completed later this month. And if the footnotes in the Nevada Supreme Court's recent unpublished orders are any indication, the answer will likely be yes.¹⁰ So, to save the parties from the need or inclination to invest resources further briefing the effect of Bourne Valley before the Nevada Supreme Court answers this certified question, I sua sponte stay this case pending the answer to the certified question and deny all pending motions¹¹ without prejudice to their refile after the stay is lifted.

Discussion

A district court has the inherent power to stay cases to control its docket and promote the efficient use of judicial resources.¹² When determining whether a stay is appropriate pending the resolution of another case—often called a “Landis stay”—the district court must weigh: (1) the possible damage that may result from a stay, (2) any “hardship or inequity” that a party may suffer if required to go forward, (3) “and the orderly course of justice measured in terms of the simplifying or complicating of issues, proof, and questions of law” that a stay will engender.¹³ I find that a Landis stay is appropriate here.

⁹ Nev. S. Ct. Case No. 72931 (Order Accepting Certified Question, Directing Briefing and Directing Submission of Filing Fee, filed June 13, 2017); Bank of New York Mellon v. Star Hill Homeowners Association, 2:16-cv-2561-RFB-PAL, ECF No. 41.

¹⁰ See, e.g., PNC Bank v. Saticoy Bay LLC Series 5633 Desert Creek, Case No. 70909, at n.1 (Nev. Oct. 13, 2017) (unpublished) (noting that the court observed in SFR that NRS 116.31168 “incorporated NRS 107.090 (2013), which required that notices be sent to a deed of trust beneficiary” and citing to the Bourne Valley dissent); see also Premier One Holdings, Inc. v. Wells Fargo Bank, Case No. 70638 (Nev. Jul. 11, 2017) (unpublished) (same).

¹³ Lockyer v. Mirant Corp., 398 F.3d 1098, 1110 (9th Cir. 2005).

1 A. A stay will promote the orderly course of justice.

2 At the center of this case is an HOA-foreclosure sale under NRS Chapter 116 and the 3 competing arguments that the foreclosure sale either extinguished the bank’s security interest or 4 had no legal effect because the statutory scheme violated the bank’s due-process rights. When a 5 federal right depends on the interpretation of state law as this due-process challenge does, the 6 federal courts must apply the interpretation of that law ascribed by the state’s highest court.¹⁴
7 And when “the state’s highest court has not adjudicated the issue, a federal court must make a 8 reasonable determination of the result the highest state court would reach if it were deciding the 9 case.”¹⁵ But that determination is just an educated guess of how the state’s highest court would 10 interpret its law.¹⁶ And a panel’s prediction binds lower courts only “in the absence of any 11 subsequent indication” from the state’s highest court that the panel’s “interpretation was 12 incorrect.”¹⁷

13 For Bourne Valley’s interpretation of NRS 116.3116, that “subsequent indication” may be 14 nigh. The Nevada Supreme Court’s acceptance of a certified question about its foundational 15 statutory interpretation leaves the continued viability of Bourne Valley uncertain. Because that 16 answer—which may be dispositive of the central issues in this case—is imminent, it makes 17 judicially economical sense to wait for it before making dispositive rulings in this case. Each

25 legislation”); see also New York v. Ferber, 458 U.S. 747, 767 (1982) (discussing the federal-state 26 allocation of power for the separate tasks of interpreting state laws and assessing their

Owen v. United States, 713 F.2d 1461, 1464 (9th Cir. 1983)).

1 time the jurisprudence in this area of unique Nevada law evolves, the parties in the scores of 2 foreclosure-challenge actions pending in this courthouse file new motions or move to supplement 3 the ones that they already have pending, often resulting in docket-clogging entries and an 4 impossible-to-follow chain of briefs in which arguments are abandoned and replaced. Staying 5 this case pending the answer to the certified question will permit the parties to evaluate—and me
6 to consider—the viability of the claims under the most complete authority. This will simplify 7 and streamline the proceedings and promote the efficient use of the parties’ and the court’s 8 resources.

9 B. Hardship and inequity

10 All parties face the prospect of hardship if I resolve the claims or issues in this case
11 before the certified question is answered. A stay and denial of all pending motions will prevent 12 unnecessary briefing and the expenditures of time, attorney’s fees, and resources that could be 13 wasted in the event that Bourne Valley’s interpretation is deemed incorrect by the Nevada
14 Supreme Court.

15 C. Damage from a stay

16 The only potential damage that may result from a stay is that the parties will have to wait 17 longer for resolution of this case and any motions that they have filed or intend to file in the 18 future. But a delay would also result from any rebriefing or supplemental briefing that may be 19 necessitated once the Nevada Supreme Court answers the certified question. So it is not clear to 20 me that extending this stay pending the answer to that question will ultimately lengthen the life
21 of this case. I thus find that any possible damage that the extension of this stay may cause the 22 parties is minimal.

23 D. The length of the stay is reasonable.

24 Finally, I note that a stay of this case pending the anticipated answer to the certified
25 question is expected to be reasonably short. Briefing is scheduled to be completed in just a 26 couple of weeks. Because the length of this stay is directly tied to the certified-question 27 proceeding, it is reasonably brief, and it is not indefinite.

1 Conclusion

2 IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that THIS CASE IS STAYED for all purposes.¹⁸
3 Once the Nevada Supreme Court has answered the certified question in Bank of New York
4 Mellon v. Star Hill Homeowners Association, 2:16-cv-2561-RFB-PAL/Nev. S. Ct. Case No.
5 72931, any party may move to lift this stay.

6 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that ALL PENDING MOTIONS [ECF Nos. 10, 22] are 7 DENIED without prejudice to their refiling once the stay is lifted.
